

Japan and Great Britain Consider Ten-Year Naval Holiday Urged By Hughes

NO POSSIBILITY OF ITS FLAT REJECTION IS FELT TO EXIST

Beyond Immediate Reduction of Fleets, Proposal Suggests Permanent Limitation

U. S. Not 'Selfish'

Instead, Mr. Hughes' Plan Gives
Other Two Major Naval Powers the Advantage

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 13.—Delegates to the arms conference had not recovered today from the shock of Secretary Hughes' blunt presentation yesterday of the proposal for immediate reduction of the fleets of Great Britain, the United States and Japan and for a ten year naval holiday.

The concrete terms of the American plan, laid before the opening session of the conference on limitation of armament were still in the hands of the naval experts of the two other powers chiefly concerned. Pending their conclusions, no further step is probable. The spokesmen here for Great Britain and Japan had nothing to add to their previous guarded comments on Mr.
Hughes' suggestions. As far as they went, those statements were encouraging and it was certain at least that no possibility of flat rejection of the plan existed.

With further time for study by interested officials for all nations, the American plan began to stand out today in its true proportions.
Apparently it is far more than a ten year naval holiday that is projected, coupled with immediate heavy reductions of the fleets of the three powers. Beyond that is a third equally blunt and direct suggestion for a continuing agreement to limit the size of battle fleets permanently. That is what Mr. Hughes' naval replacement plan really amounts to.

U. S. Content With Battleships

In naming the ships to which each main battle fleet must be cut if the American plan for immediate reduction were accepted, Secretary Hughes' statement shows the Great Britain and the United States would be on an exact equality in the number of battleships, but the British would retain in addition four battle cruisers. The proposed Japanese fleet would be composed of six battleships and four battle cruisers while the United States would be content with battleships alone.

This may prove more significant as the discussions proceed, some naval officers believe. It appears probable that in proposing to agree that both of the island powers should be provided in equal number with these new additions to the main fleets of nations, while the United States maintain a fleet of ten battleships, at least, to equip the American fleet similarly, the American delegation to the arms conference sought to convey a very definite assurance that America, as President Harding told the conference, came to the discussion with no selfish purpose to serve.

Reinforcement by the United States of any battle cruiser element in her fleet, some officers said, at once indicated clearly that the navy was not being maintained with the deliberate idea that it might some day become advisable to tip the scales of the two island powers or either of them.
Battle cruisers would be invaluable, perhaps vital, to successful prosecution of a naval war across the Pacific, it was said.

Necessary Protection Recognized

In the proposal that the other two powers retain battle cruiser squadrons, also, these observers saw a possible concrete expression of American recognition of the necessities in naval forces to these countries: of American willingness that they should prosecute legitimate ventures over the world requiring far-flung merchant routes, and employ for protection of these routes naval craft they thought best suited to the task, as a continental power, although with the proposals for an equal footing with any nation on the seas, the United States might not necessarily need battle cruisers as the other powers feel they do, it was said.

has made a flat proposition in regard to battle cruisers, which, it was thought, might be very difficult of treatment at the conference.

The actual business of negotiations of the conference will get under way tomorrow, when the heads of delegations will meet to discuss procedure, a subject likely to develop into one of the most important of the whole conference. From every one of the interested powers have come expressions emphasizing that the order in which the topics appear on the program would have a significant bearing on the ability of the conference to move quickly toward practical results.

Two Meetings on Monday

To agree on the preliminary details, two meetings will be held. In the morning, the committee on program and procedure for limitation of armaments, of which the heads of the American, British, French, Italian and Japanese delegations are members, will assemble to consider the armament end of the program, and in the afternoon there will be a meeting of the committee on program and procedure for the Eastern questions, consisting of the heads of the delegations of all nine of the nations holding seats in the conference.

During the afternoon, the American advisory committee of 21 also will meet and Chairman Sutherland will announce the personnel of the six subcommittees, whose creation has been authorized to facilitate the handling of special subjects.

While these meetings are being held, technical advisors of the various delegations will study further the American proposals under which tonnage figures in capital ships for the three powers for immediate reduction would be: Great Britain, 500,000; United States, 500,000; Japan, 290, 000. The list of ships to be retained by each shows that the British preponderance over the United States is practically all in her four battle cruisers. In this way, apparently, the American group worked out Mr. Hughes' general statement as to the necessity of having regard to the existing naval strength of the powers concerned.

Two Forces About Equal

So far as battleship tonnage goes, in the retained fleets, the American and British forces would be about the same, around 500,000; and that of Japan just under 300,000. This links up directly with Mr. Hughes' suggestion as to a replacement program, based on fixed tonnage for each power, to apply only after ten years of no building of any kind. Then, under the American proposal, Great Britain would be allowed to maintain up to 500,000 tons in capital ships, the United States the same, and Japan 300, 000.

In other words, after ten years, the British fleet must be brought down to the same tonnage basis as the American, while the Japanese would remain substantially where it was at the first reduction. Apparently, it is expected that the British strength would be reduced sufficiently by attrition, the wearing out of ships during the ten-year period.

Statistics as to the gun power of the three fleets to be retained under the reduction program show that the United States and Japan would have about equal mounting eight 16-inch guns each.

Great Britain would have ten ships carrying a total of 80 16-inch rifles, one carrying ten 14-inch guns, and her other seven ships would be armed with the British 13.5 guns, used by neither of the other powers. She would have 70 of these about.

American Fleet Superior

The United States, in addition to the 16-inch gun ship, the Maryland, just commissioned, would have eight ships carrying 12 14-inch guns each, four carrying ten 14-inch, two carrying 12 12-inch each, four carrying ten 12-inch each. Japan, in addition to her one 12-inch gun ship, would have about 45 14-inch guns and 12 12-inch on her battle cruisers and 32 12-inch on her battle cruisers.

British Fleet Superior

The figures further illustrate that the British preponderance in the proposed immediate cut is embraced by her four battle cruisers, as the gun power of the two battleship fleets would be different in makeup but approximately the same. There is little doubt, however, that American naval opinion would rank the American battleship fleet as superior.

In recent terms, the American replacement proposal means that under the agreement outlined the fleets of the three powers in terms of capital ships would stand at ultimately approximately 14 each for Great Britain and the United States, and eight for Japan.

The American claim to full equality with Great Britain is made in the replacement suggestion and there has been no hint as yet that the British delegation will oppose it.

It means also that Japan would stand thereafter at a fixed ratio of 5 to 5 in naval strength in comparison with the other two fleets. It was not clear tonight how that finally would be viewed by Japan.

The American replacement plan prepares to limit future capital ships to 25,000 tons. Taken in connection with the tonnage allotments, that would mean main fleets of 14 capital craft each for Great Britain and the United States, and eight for Japan, providing all are built up to the limit of size.

speed and cruising radius are those from which the size of ships is determined.

OPINION PREVAILS THAT JAPAN WILL ACCEPT PLAN

Washington, Nov. 13.—Admiral Baron Kato, the senior Japanese delegate, reiterated today his belief that the American proposal for a naval agreement was "reasonable." The admiral spent practically the entire day studying reports on the American proposal which had been submitted by his technical naval delegates.

"A further study will go on tomorrow," said the admiral, "and, of course, until the examination is concluded it is difficult to say anything as to suggestions or points we may raise in connection with the subject."

The general impression among Japanese tonight was that Japan would accept the American project. Whether her representatives would endeavor to link the question of fortifications in the Pacific with the problem of naval armaments had not been made clear.
Japan's desire as to naval armament was said to be to maintain a fleet of sufficient defensive power to be able to cope with any fleet that could be sent to the Far East.

Situation Clarified, Kato Says

Secretary Hughes' pronouncements have "clarified" the situation, Admiral Kato declared at a reception given tonight at the Shoreham by Baron Shidehara, the Japanese ambassador. The reception was arranged to present journalists who are reporting proceedings of the conference to the Japanese plenipotentiaries and had been postponed until tonight on account of the assassination of Premier Hara. A number of distinguished Americans not of the journalistic profession also were present.

Baron Shidehara introduced Admiral Kato and Prince Tokugawa, and then called upon Frederick Roy Martin, general manager of The Associated Press, to respond as "the representative of American journalism."

Admiral Kato pointed out that up to the present Japan has had fears which have caused her to continue naval construction but with fears on both sides obliterated, he was confident that an agreement, so far as Japan and the United States were concerned, could not fail to come.

Prince Tokugawa declared if anyone feared the failure of the conference before leaving Japan the fact had been dispelled since arriving in the United States.

Mr. Martin, responding, declared the press was "a powerful factor" in the conference, since its function was "to tell the waiting world what you do here, who leads, who follows and the result." The "regulars" of the Fourth Estate, Mr. Martin said, who measured their service "not by the column but by the years," pledged the conference their best efforts so that the world might profit by the deliberations here.

Paris Comment Mostly Favorable

Paris, Nov. 13.—Dispatches outlining the developments at the opening of the armament conference in Washington took first place in all the Paris newspapers this morning. Extensive excerpts are printed from President Harding's address, the speech by Secretary Hughes giving the American program for a ten year naval holiday, and the comments thereon by Premier Briand and A. J.
Balfour, acting head of the British delegation. The newspaper comment is generally favorable.

"Asia Conference" Called

Peking, Nov. 13.—The Siberian Soviet government is said to be displeased over the fact that it has no representation at the Washington conference. The government has invited the "weaker nations" to "an Asia conference" at Irkutsk.

The Government Announces that representatives of Siam, Persia, India and the Philippines are on the way to the conference it has called.

ARBuckle GOES ON TRIAL

TODAY FOR GIRL'S DEATH

San Francisco, Nov. 13.—Roscoe C.
"Fatty" Arbuckle, motion picture comedian, will go on trial tomorrow on a charge of manslaughter growing out of the death on September 9 of Miss Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress.

Unlike Arbuckle's preliminary hearing, to which only women spectators were admitted due to the fact that it was held in the women's department of the police court, both sexes may attend the trial, to which admission will be by card.

The jury venire of 66 contains the names of 13 women.

"GOVERNMENT BY THE PEOPLE"

New York, Nov. 13.—The committee of 43 will begin an active campaign this week to place tickets in congressional districts of Central and Western states for the fall elections of 1922. Its plans for the organization of a new party were announced today by the national chairman, J. A.
Hopkins, who said its aim was to establish "government by the people" rather than an "invisible government" with its headquarters in Wall street.

TEST KANSAS BONE DRY LAW

Topeka, Kansas, Nov. 13.—Kansas is prepared to make a test to determine whether the Kansas bone dry law is nullified by the Volstead act and beer regulations, Attorney General Richard J. Hopkins announced tonight. The announcement followed a report reaching Mr. Hopkins that a cask of beer was to be shipped into the state for medicinal purposes.

ALBANY GREETES GENERAL DIAZ

Famous Italian War Hero Begins Tour of Principal Upstate Cities

Albany, Nov. 13.—General Armando Diaz of Italy received an enthusiastic welcome here today at the beginning of a tour of the principal upstate cities of New York.

Greeted at the railroad station upon his arrival soon after noon by an enormous crowd, he was accompanied to the capitol by a military escort and a large committee of citizens. There he was officially welcomed to the state by Governor Miller.

Luncheon was served at a club by the citizens' committee and then brief exercises took place in the education building. General Diaz spoke of the friendship existing between his government and the United States and expressed his gratitude for the reception which he had received. A feature of the gathering was the presentation by General Diaz of the Italian Cross of Merit to Francesco Rosati of Hudson Falls in behalf of his son, Giovanni Rosati, who lost his life as a member of the Italian navy while exhibiting extraordinary bravery.

Later, General Diaz, accompanied by his staff and Governor Miller and state and city officials, visited the soldiers' and sailors' monument in Washington park, where the general placed a wreath, and also the memorial grove for veterans who died in the world war, where another wreath was left.

One of the most demonstrative receptions accorded the general while here was at the Friends of Italy hall, where he delivered a short address.
Upon returning to the railroad station, General Diaz began to distribute roses to women in the crowd from a large bouquet which earlier had been presented to him. There was such a wild scramble for them, however, that he was obliged to toss them into the air.

At Schenectady, General Diaz, during a brief stop, spoke to 2,000 people who had gathered at the railroad station. He then continued to Utica.

No New Wars, Says Diaz

Utica, Nov. 13.—"The war has ended and from that war no new wars must arise, only peace and labor," was the statement of Armando Diaz, commander of the Italian army, here tonight. "Yes, I am pro-peace," he said, "but I am a man of war." "Because in the first of all is the spirit of the citizen and the patriot."

General Diaz spoke to a mass meeting at the armory and expressed his appreciation of the tumultuous welcome extended him, which he said, "multiplied by two the loud explosion of the noisy neapolitans."

A crowd estimated at 25,000 met General Diaz on the arrival of his train. A parade consisting largely of Italian organizations of Utica and surrounding villages escorted him to the armory where he was officially welcomed by Mayor James K. O'Connor, who spoke in Italian. General Diaz was presented a gold medal as an expression of the appreciation of his services during the war, the presentation being in the name of the 30,000 citizens of Utica who are of Italian origin or descent. The general was the guest of honor tonight at a banquet.

One of the first to grasp the general's hand as he alighted from the train was Antonio Chirico of Herktown, who fought under Diaz in many battles, including the stand at the Piave, and who was decorated seven times for gallantry.

TWO BIRTH CONTROL SPEAKERS ARRESTED

Mrs. Margaret Sanger and Companion Defy Police by Addressing Mass Meeting

New York, Nov. 13.—Mrs. Margaret Sanger, well-known writer, and Miss Mary Winsor of Philadelphia, were arrested tonight after they were alleged to have defied the police by addressing a mass meeting in Town hall in the interests of birth control.

The police broke up the meeting.
The two women were taken to the West 47th street police station, where technical charges of disorderly conduct were made against them. A crowd of several thousand persons followed them to the station house, many of them hissing and jeering the police, and it was necessary to call out reserves to disperse them.

From the police station, the women were taken to the men's night court in West 54th street, but Magistrate Francis McQuade held that he did not have jurisdiction and paroled them in the custody of their counsel for their appearance in the West Side court tomorrow.

The disorder began when Mrs. Sanger and Miss Winsor arrived and were informed by a police captain at the entrance that he had orders from police headquarters not to permit the meeting. He warned the women not to attempt to speak. The hall had been cleared of almost the entire audience, but Mrs. Sanger brushed the police captain aside, informed him that she would speak, and entered the building followed by Miss Winsor.
The police made no effort to stop them. Their entrance was followed by a rush of several hundred persons in the street, who stormed the doors.
The police were unable to control the mob.

Mrs. Sanger went to the stage and began to address the assembled audience. A policeman threatened to arrest her if she persisted, which she did, and he took her from the stage.
Miss Winsor then got up to continue the speech. Mrs. Sanger had started, and she also was arrested. The audience jeered and hooted as the prisoners were led from the building.

The Beginning of an Endless March

His gun has turned to rust, his body turned to dust, but the American Hero buried Armistice Day at Arlington National Cemetery goes marching on through the ages with those who lie in Flanders' poppy fields. Those who stood at salute as his body was laid away saluted only the Soul of Freedom passing on.

MARSHAL FOCH IS CAREFUL OF MENU

Only Member of His Party Who Hasn't Been Ill; Rhode Island Welcomes Generalissimo

Providence, R. I., Nov. 13.—Marshal Foch has found that it is possible to keep one's digestion healthy even though in America. Before leaving for this country he laughingly remarked that he would have to go "in training" in preparation for the banquets and dinners of state that were piled ahead of him. But with the trip well under way he is the only member of the party who has not been ill. His traveling companions say that he is careful of his menu, gets as much rest as possible, and is in the best condition.

The union's smallest state welcomed Marshal Foch today. He stopped at this city to receive an honorary degree from Brown University, then buttressed away to Woonsocket, where the large French population gave him a rousing welcome.

The marshal, arriving here this afternoon, was welcomed at the station by Governor San Souel and a delegation representing the city government and the American Legion of the state.
His party was hurriedly taken between lines of cheering thousands to the North burial ground, where the marshal laid a wreath on a memorial to French soldiers who fought in the Revolution.

Brown University broke a tradition as old as the institution itself in con-fering a doctorate of laws on the Allied generalissimo today. Never before had an honorary degree been presented on a Sunday. Probably never before had the college yell rung out across the campus on a Sabbath afternoon, but it was given with a three times three today when President William Faunce conferred the degree.

POLICE ON LOOKOUT FOR THREE AUBURN CONVICTS

Binghamton, Nov. 13.—Local police were notified tonight to be on the lookout for three convicts reported missing from Auburn prison. Two of them, John Fishers, 28, of Rochester, and John Griffin, 25, of the post, were serving terms of from 20 years to life for conviction of murder in the second degree at Rochester. The third man is Peter Gaviglioni, 21, of Rochester, serving two years for abduction.

EX-EMPEROR CHARLES AND WIFE ON WAY TO EXILE first class cruiser Cardiff, bearing former emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary and his wife Zita, to their exile in the island of Madeira left here today.

Yale Ranked As Strong Foe For Harvard Next Saturday

New York, Nov. 13.—The smash-down game which only a week before plunged capable hand of football warriors that carried the blue standard of Yale to victory over the Princeton eleven Saturday in the bowl at New Haven is ranked, because of this triumph, as too strong a foe for Harvard, which the Bulldogs meet next Saturday in the last of the season's Big Three clashes.

Princeton has won from Harvard and lost to Yale. Should the great rushing power and speed of the Yale machine fall to carry it to triumph, it would be unique—a triple tie for the so-called Big Three championship.

Captain Malcolm Adair's kicking was the real factor in Yale's victory over Princeton, for the two field goals that Adair kicked between the posts carried the Bulldogs to its 13 to 7 score. Charles O'Brien, the Harvard quarterback, made the Yale touchdown in the opening period.

And not far behind the heroes in a sombre afternoon which was illuminated by dazzling feats of the resurgent Blue was every other scrapper who bore the color of the Blues.

MRS. GEORGE JAY GOULD IS DEAD

Wife of Noted Capitalist Stricken Suddenly While Playing Golf With Husband

WAS NOTED ACTRESS

Popular Favorite When She Married Eldest Son of Multi-Millionaire in 1886

Lakewood, N. J., Nov. 12.—Mrs.
George Jay Gould, wife of the eminent capitalist, died today while playing golf with her husband on the private links at Lakewood Court, their country home.

She had just finished a drive at the fifth tee and with her husband was watching the flight of the ball when she collapsed without a word. Mr.
Gould turned to speak to her and was astonished to see her lying across the tee. Thinking his wife merely had fainted, Mr. Gould hastened to assist her to her feet, but when she became alarmed and sent the caddy on a hurry call for physicians.

Two doctors, reaching the links quickly, a brief examination convinced them that Mrs. Gould was dead and that heart disease had been the cause.

Mrs. Gould appeared to be in excellent health when she walked to the links with her husband a few minutes before noon. She showed no traces of exhaustion and chatted with her husband as they progressed to the fifth hole.

Children Notified of Death

Mr. and Mrs. Gould attended services this morning in All Saints' Methodist church and on their return to Lakewood Court dressed for the golf links.

News of their mother's death was sent immediately to the seven children, five of whom were in New York. The other two, Lady Deedes, formerly Hellen Vivian Gould, is in London, and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, formerly Marjorie Gould, is in Philadelphia. A cable message was sent to Lady Deedes.
Mrs. Drexel reached Lakewood Court in the afternoon, as did the other children, Mrs. Edith C. Wainwright, Mrs.
Glenn Gould, and Kingdon George and Jay, who motored from New York.

Funeral arrangements were not completed tonight, but it was planned to send the body to Mr. Gould's fifth avenue home in New York tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Gould, formerly Edith King-don, was an actress who had scored in her profession when she was married to George Jay Gould, eldest son of Jay Gould, multi-millionaire, on September 14, 1886. Her biggest successes occurred in 1885 as a member of Augustin Daly's company, her first noteworthy triumph being in "Love on Crutches."

Mrs. Gould was even more successful in amateur theatricals after her marriage. Her love for the drama never waned and her social entertainments of this character were memorable events in New York society. During the years that the family occupied Lakewood Court, she took a keen interest in church and charitable work.
She was an ardent exponent of outdoor life and the golf course on which she died today was laid out at her direction.

TAKAHASHI ASSUMES JAP PREMIERSHIP

Minister of Finance in Hara Cabinet Expected to Continue a "Peaceable Foreign Policy"

(By The Associated Press)

Tokyo, Nov. 13.—Baron Korekio Takahashi, minister of finance in the Hara cabinet, today officially assumed the premiership in succession to Takashi Hara, who was assassinated November 1.

The appointment of Baron Takahashi is generally regarded in public circles as a favorable indication of the waning of the power of the militarists and as insuring what is termed a continuation of the "peaceable foreign policy" of Premier Hara.

In addition to holding the premiership, Baron Takahashi will continue as minister of finance and acting minister of the navy. The other ministers in the Hara cabinet will retain their posts.

TEACHER DISMISSED FOR USING POWDER, GETS WRIT

Knox, Ark., Nov. 11.—A writ of habeas corpus was granted today to a teacher who had been removed from her rights in the public schools, it has been held here by Miss Paul Parker, aged 18, who claims she was punished for using face powder.

The school board issued a statement that no face powder, cosmetics, rouge, pink-and-blue waists, blue stockings or abbreviated skirts would be tolerated in the schools.

STEAMER AFIRE REPORTED NOT IN IMMEDIATE DANGER

Boston, Nov. 13.—The American steamer San Francisco, airt in mid-ocean, today sent out a wireless call for assistance, which was picked up at the naval radio station here. She gave her position as approximately 2,100 miles southeast of New York.
The steamer, of 1,164 tons, left Martins, October 1, and Lisbon November 2 for New York.

Finance, Commerce and Industry Claim Attention as Holidays Interrupt Stock Market

New York, Nov. 13.—With trading on the stock exchange reduced to little more than a few straggles because of the two holidays, interest last week was shifted to the broader field of finance, commerce and industry.

The inquiry for high grade securities which attended the recent fall in money rates lost much of its impetus, but the steady sale of many new underwritings offered cumulative signs of a sound investment demand.

Eliminating the oils and equipments, which dwarfed all other issues in strength and speculative importance, the stock market presented few features of interest. Ralls were irregular at best, becoming heavy in spots when it developed that the leading eastern and western railways had joined forces to cut wages.

The recovery in the price of oils and by-products was the most constructive feature of the week. Domestic shares probably owed their strength in large part to recurrent rumors of salt water in the Mexican fields and general dissatisfaction with conditions across the Rio Grande.

In the industrial situation, the most significant event was the large decrease in bookings reported by the United States Steel corporation for October. This was the more disappointing because the previous month's slight gain in tonnage, the first in over a year, had encouraged hopes of a turn for the better.

It is pointed out by international bankers that the ability of the continental countries to meet their payments to the United States rests largely on the income from Germany.

Further decline of the mark to a level bespeaking economic paralysis was viewed with great apprehension especially in London and Paris.

HUNTER DIES AFTER TWO DAYS' EXPOSURE IN COLD

Utica, Nov. 13.—His legs frozen to the knees as the result of two days' exposure in the winter cold deep in the woods north of Forestport, Charles Turner, 47, of Fayetteville, died in a Utica hospital Friday when blood transfusion, resorted to in a desperate effort to save his life failed.

When found, Turner had just enough strength to grip his legs gave out. He went into the woods Tuesday to hunt and took the wrong trail and became lost. Overcome by somnolence induced by uracum, he fell to the ground in an unfrequented spot. He was found about 18 hours later by a hunter who also had lost his way.

DR. HAVILAND ACCEPTS

Middletown, Conn., Nov. 13 — Dr. O. Lloyd Haviland, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane, here has offered his resignation to accept the appointment of the State Hospital commissioner of New York state.

Dr. Haviland was tendered on Wednesday, the position to succeed Dr. Charles W. Palmer resigned. He will leave here about the middle of December. Action on the resignation will be taken by the trustees next week.

CANNED GOODS INCHILL

Chicago, Nov. 13 — Warning that prices of canned goods may advance 25 per cent in the next few weeks, the Western Canners' association, in convention here, issued a statement advising housewives to stock up their shelves immediately.

The statement was based on statistics showing a shortage in the supply of canned foods. The canners, it was explained, had been reluctant to put up a normal pack for fear they would be caught by declining prices.

ONEONTA AT COOPERSTOWN.

Judge Huntington Addresses Judicial Day Gathering.

Cooperstown, Nov. 13.—The great part of the business places were closed today afternoon, the people attending Judicial Day. In the morning members of the American Legion post and its auxiliary, headed by the Cooperstown band, marched to the court house. There the audience listened to an inspiring address by City Judge Frank C. Huntington of Oneonta. Despite the inclement weather, large numbers were present.

Mrs. Anson Stowell Claimed.

Friday morning, at her home in Middlefield, Mrs. Anson Stowell passed away. She had been confined to her bed but a few days with neuralgia and heart trouble. Mrs. Stowell's maiden name was Nancy Ann Tumber. She was born in Wingham, Kent, England, March 28, 1842. When she was 11 years old her parents came to the United States and took up land in Middlefield. Mrs. Stowell was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church in Cooperstown. Surviving her are four children, Miss Kate Stowell and Neglecting That Cold or Cough?

LETTING the old cough or cold drag on, or the new one develop seriously, is folly, especially when at your druggists, you can get such a proved and successful remedy as Dr. King's New Discovery. No drugs, just good medicine that relieves quickly.

For over fifty years, a standard remedy for coughs, colds and grippe. Eases croup, also. Loosens up the phlegm, quiets the croupy cough, stimulates the bowels, thus relieving the congestion. All druggists, 60c.

SCHUYLER LAKE NEWS.

Jesse Byard Purchases the Old Mitchell Farm from William Fay.

Schuyler Lake, Nov. 13.—A real estate deal of no little interest took place one day recently when Jesse Byard purchased of William Fay, of Cooperstown, the farm on which he lives, formerly and better known as the D. W. Mitchell farm. This is a fine farm, well located and well watered. Mr. Byard is to be congratulated on being able to purchase such a valuable piece of land.

Town Offices Omitted.

In Friday's Star a list of the town officers was printed and for some unknown reason the names of two Republican Justices of Peace who were elected were omitted. They were E. F. Washburn and C. V. Coe, who ran against F. N. Rose and Frances Brady.

Sell Crops.

Jesse Byard has sold both his last year's and this year's crop of hops and we understand he received a good price for both crops.

Personals.

Lyle Dyer and family are moving from the hotel to their farm in Pleasant alley. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts expect to take possession of the hotel next Tuesday.—Mrs. Charles Brown of Gloversville is spending some time among friends in town.—N. Hendrick was home from his work at Binghamton to vote.—The air is full of fine perfume these days and the boys are catching some very fine skunks and the fur is very prime this year.—J. K. Allen, Ray Miller and friend of Frankfort and Heikiner are spending a few days at Allen's log cabin and enjoying the duck and rabbit hunting in this vicinity.

Death of Erwin Davis.

Hartwick, Nov. 12.—Erwin Davis, aged 35 years and a farmer and much respected resident of the town of Burlington, died Saturday at his home about four miles from this village. The immediate cause of his death was heart trouble and he had not been in the best of health for some time. Surviving him are his wife and four children, ranging from 6 to 14 years of age. The funeral services will be held at noon Monday from his late home. Rev. Mr. Rines of the Methodist Episcopal church at Hartwick will officiate and burial will be in the Hartwick cemetery. Many friends of the deceased will learn with deep regret of his demise and their sympathy will be extended to the sorrowing family.

This banner will be proudly exhibited by the class on Sunday.

Bloomville Hunter Secures Deer.

Station Agent and Mrs. James Furman have been on a vacation the past two weeks and have been visiting Mrs. Furman's relatives at Pine Hill. Mr. Furman has been hunting in that vicinity and was lucky enough to shoot a fine buck. They were about to return home after securing this big game when a sad accident happened to detain them. Mrs. Furman's brother, Mr. Goss of Pine Hill, was killed by falling from a building on which he was at work. They remained to attend the funeral and were expected home last night. James Furman

LOCAL MENTION

—Born, Nov. 12, to Mr. and Mrs. Leo E. Robinson of 3 Jefferson avenue, a seven-pound son, who has been christened Leon Maurice. Mother and babe are doing nicely.

—There was a large attendance, considering weather conditions, at the turkey supper given by the Queen Esther circle at the Methodist Episcopal church Saturday evening. The receipts were about $140.

—There are now 1797 students enrolled in the school savings system, 22 accounts being added during the week ending November 9. Seventy-eight per cent of all the school children in the city now have savings accounts.

—The annual session of the board of supervisors commences at Cooperstown today. Hon. George L. Bookes, recently elected from the second district in this city, and appointed to fill the vacancy when S. A. Disbrow resigned, will represent that district of the city.

—Albert Hermann, star third baseman of the Oneonta Giants this summer, played the entire game for Colgate in the annual struggle with Syracuse yesterday. Although his fumble paved the way for a Syracuse touchdown, "Ab" played a good game, making several long gains for the Maroon.

—The night school session at the High school scheduled to be held on Wednesday evening of this week will be held instead on Tuesday evening because of the lecture course entertainment on Wednesday. This class tonight will be held as usual. Another term of cooking lessons will be given by Miss Davies if enough students enroll. One term of eight lessons was completed last week.

ART CONFERENCE AT NORMAL

Annual Drawing and Industrial Arts Conference to be held at Normal School on Friday, November 18.

The annual Drawing and Industrial Arts Conference for Oneonta and Delaware counties will be held at the Oneonta Normal school on Friday, November 18. A large attendance of teachers is expected at the meeting, preparations for which are now being made by George Williamson, director of industrial arts at the Normal, and Miss Lena Freeborn, drawing instructor at the High school, who are president and secretary, respectively, of the conference. The vice president is Mrs. Carolyn Warren of Downsville. Prominent state educational authorities will address the conference.

The meeting is planned for teachers and supervisors of art and industrial arts in the elementary, secondary and teacher-training schools of the two counties and is one of several to be held in various parts of the state under the supervision of the Division of Vocational and Extension Education of the State Department of Education. The conferences provide an opportunity for informal discussion of the subject involved, drawing and construction involved in instruction in art and industrial arts. A major purpose of the meeting will be to make a study of the report of the committee on art education of the Educational Congress of May, 1919. Another important purpose will be a discussion and interpretation by the state representative of the recently issued Elementary Bulletin on Art and Industrial Arts.

The following program has been arranged for the conference at the Normal Friday:

9:00 a. m. to 10:00 a. m.—Registration.
10:00 a. m.—Teacher Training in Art and Industrial Arts—Miss Caroline Jenkins, Oneonta Normal school.
11:00 a. m.—Elementary Design—Miss M. Jants Laut, Walton High school.
12:00 p. m.—Art Structure—Miss Harriet E. Knapp, State Education department.
1:00 p. m.—Recross.
1:15 p. m.—Election of officers.
2:00 p. m.—Discussion of Elementary Bulletin on Art and Industrial Arts—Leon L. Winslow, State Specialist in Drawing and Industrial Training.

Discussion of exhibits.

SOME GIRL TOMORROW EVENING

Advance Sale for Successful Comedy Opens This Morning at 10.

The advance sale of seats opens today at 10 a. m., for LeComte and Fletcher's successful musical comedy, "Some Girl," which will be the attraction at the Oneonta theatre tomorrow evening with an important cast of principals and a large chorus of unusually beautiful girls.

From its excellent reviews of the press from other cities where it has been presented—there can be no doubt as to the marked merit of this new American musical production, the local engagement of which will be played by the original company. In its brilliant score, written by Harry L. Alford, it boasts of 24 musical numbers and no less than nine of these are recorded as "hits." The latter, already being heard all over the country, are: "My Sunshine Lady," "I Miss You Honey," "Deed I Do," "What's the Use of Lovin'," "Cupid's Sweets," "A Night at the Riviera," "Dixie Land is Calling Me," "Love Needs Opposition," "A Song of Old Brittany," and the entrancing waltz song, "Love, You'll Be Mine."

Much stress has been laid on the beauty of the late chorus featured prominently as "sun-goddesses" and many commentators have agreed that they not only look sweet but they sing and they dance just as sweetly.

NEW TROLLEY TIME CARD.

Change in Main Line Trains Effective on Sunday.

The winter time card went into effect on the Southern New York railway on Sunday, November 13.

Trains leave Oneonta for Harwick, Cooperstown, Herkimer and Utica at 8:03 and 11:40 a. m. and 2:10 and 5:25 p. m., arriving at Harwick at 12:06, 2:38, 5:09 and 8:11 p. m. and at Utica at 1, 4, 6 and 9 p. m. respectively. An early morning train daily except Sunday leaves Oneonta at 5:35 a. m. for West Oneonta and Laurens. Sunday nights a train leaves Oneonta for Harwick and points intervening at 11 p. m.

Trains from Herkimer and intervening points arrive daily at 11:04 a. m. and 1:50, 4:20 and 6:35 p. m. and on Sundays only at 10:54 p. m. Train arrives from Laurens week-days only at 6:40 a. m.

There are no changes reported in the movements of the cars on the lines.

Honesty is by far the best policy, for the truth will prevail, as was demonstrated by our sale of $20 overcoats (not $11.95) last Saturday, when in a few short hours we disposed of 21 overcoats to 21 pleased and satisfied customers, but we expect more of them in to-day. COUNTY FARM BUREAU DAY

Date December 6.—Principal Speakers Dean A. H. Mann and Prof. Martha VanRensselaer.—Place Oneonta.

The annual meeting of the Farm Bureau will be held in Oneonta on Tuesday, December 6. The day which has always been designated as Farm Bureau day is the big event of the association each year. A program has been planned which will give members an opportunity to take part in the meeting and also to receive something which will make it worth their while to attend.

The morning session will begin promptly at 10:45 and will be the time when the matter of amalgamation will be considered, and officers and directors elected for 1922. Other detailed business will be transacted.

The afternoon session, which will be a joint one with the Home Bureau, will be one of education and entertainment. Dean A. H. Mann of the college of agriculture, who was to have spoken at the 1919 meeting but could not on account of sickness, will deliver the principal address at the Farm Bureau and Prof. Martha VanRensselaer, who is at the head of the college Economics department of the college, will speak for the Home Bureau. Other plans are in the making. An orchestra and a reel of pictures will be secured if possible to start off the program.

Attendance is a determining factor in the success of a meeting. Farm Bureau day has always drawn large numbers of people to Oneonta. In no other way than a pledge of a large attendance can we get such people as Prof. VanRensselaer and Dean Mann here. It is an opportunity which comes but once a year. Four officers and directors have planned something good for you. Your presence will also show your interest in the work. Come and bring your family and neighbors.

THANK OFFERING SERVICE.

Missionary Societies of United Presbyterian Church Hold Annual Meeting.

The annual thank offering service of the United Presbyterian church was held Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock and, from point of view of interest and size of the offering, was the most successful in the history of the three missionary societies of the church, the Woman's Missionary society, the Young Ladies' Missionary society, and the Junior Missionary society. The thank offering amounted to $144.26, the largest ever received.

The address was given by Mrs. F. N. Crawford of Boynton Center, president of Delaware Presbyterian Missionary societies. Mrs. Crawford, who was for four years a missionary in India, spoke most interestingly of her experiences while in that country, telling of the great good being done by missionaries notwithstanding the difficulty of reaching many of the people. She also sang a song in the Punjab dialect of the Indian language.

Injured at Richmondville.

The ambulance was called to the 4:05 train last evening to take to the hospital Patsy Lafaco of Richmondville, who was injured earlier in the day when he alighted from a moving freight train near that village. Lafaco, a section hand, attempted to get off the train, which was proceeding at slow speed, near the Richmondville station and in so doing fell, wrenching his back. It was said at the hospital last evening that his injuries are not serious.

SEASON OPENS TONIGHT

The Wanderers, Oneonta's Basketball Representatives, Will Play Opening Game Against Company G Five at Armory This Evening—Basketball Club Will Be Formed.

The Oneonta Wanderers, who will represent the city in basketball this year under the auspices of the Community Athletic association, will open their season at the armory this evening with an exhibition game against the Company G quintet. The game will begin at 8 o'clock and will be preceded by a preliminary contest between the Five Spots and the Independents, starting at 7 o'clock. The big game should be a fast contest, as both teams are in excellent condition.

Manager Crounse of the Wanderers has collected the best basketball talent in the city and has a team that will compare favorably with any in this section. With such men as Parks, Perry, Westcott, Thomas, Martin, Disbrow, Tamsett, Gregory and Kiskern on the squad, the calibre of the team which will carry the city's name into battle against the fastest amateur teams in the state can be judged. Only first class teams will be played. Arrangements are now being made to bring several college quintets to the city. The first of these teams to be played will probably be the Colgate College, of which five, Albert Hermsmith, third sacker on the city basketball team this summer, is a member. The next scheduled game of the Wanderers will be with the Little Falls team at that city on Thanksgiving night.

As all activities of the Community Athletic association are carried on through clubs organized for a specific purpose, a basketball club will be formed. There will be a meeting at Municipal hall on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of forming such an organization. All who are interested in the game are asked to be present.

Public Library Notes.

This week is "Good Book Week" at the Huntington Memorial Library. The public is cordially invited to visit the library and set the display of children's books which will be featured during the week.

During the progress of the Disarmament conference now being held at Washington, literature pertaining thereto will be conveniently placed in the second floor reading room. Besides The Oneonta Daily Star and the New York Times, the dailies taken at the library, there will be also on the reading table the New York World, containing the reports of the conference written by H. G. Wells, the famous English writer.

Saturday was the best day for the circulation in the history of the library. Nearly 700 books were loaned. Over 260 children's books were included in this number.

DODGE BROTHERS SIGN HAYNES, BALLANTYNE

Announcement by Howard B. Bloomer Ends Gossip; Factory Continues Policies of Its Founders.

By E. Y. WATSON.

Remarks in regard to the future of Dodge Brothers have been as active and persistent since the death of John F. Dodge and Horace E. Dodge as are the rumors of the company making its plants a matter of course of great interest to the whole country.

These rumors have never received any credence and have been carried on by them by Dodge Brothers, officials of that company, who have been carrying on their duty to make and market motor cars, rather than to pay attention to what the speculators in the trade had to say about them.

Recently, however, there has appeared a complete and final answer to all these rumors. In the official statement of Howard B. Bloomer, chairman of the board of directors, that the company had signed a long term contract with Chrysler, Mr. Bloomer, president, and John Ballantyne, treasurer of the company.

This announcement was not made by Mr. Bloomer to the public, but as was generally to be expected, from the policies of the company, was made to its own representatives and dealers; and it was only after it had been seen forth in these representative and dealers in the ordinary course of business, that the public learned anything of it.

This announcement, coming in the official manner in which it did, means much to Detroit, because it assures a continuity of the organization, and Mr. Bloomer, as well as the continued operation of the business under its present ownership.

Dodge Brothers is one of the largest manufacturing concerns in the world, and the second largest automobile manufacturer in the world. Its business and affairs are of tremendous importance to the whole country, because of the vast number of persons deriving livelihood from its plant; but it is of course more important to the city of Detroit than any other plant in the world, because its main plant and activities are carried on in this city.

Starting as it did in the hands of John F. and Horace E. Dodge, with its first shop housed in small quarters in the Boylston Power building of this city, it grew with Detroit until, at the death of its founders, it was an enormous institution. And, because of the dynamic force and capabilities of these founders, all people wondered as to its future.

It would have been a calamity to the city of Detroit had Dodge Brothers not lived up in every particular to the standards and capacity outlined for it by its founders. The announcement of Mr. Bloomer, of the contracts with Mr. Haynes and Mr. Ballantyne, is the best answer that could be made as to the future of Dodge Brothers.

After the death of the founders, the plant continued to operate, as all big organizations do, when properly managed. The organization, as founded by the plant at the death of its founders, continued to direct it, and it has had an overabundance of success in its history.

The contract with Mr. Haynes and Mr. Ballantyne assure the continuity of the present organization, and Mr. Bloomer asserts that Detroit can count on Dodge Brothers in the future as it has in the past as one of its most stable and successful institutions.

Mr. Haynes was associated with John F. and Horace E. Dodge for 21 years before Mr. Dodge's death, and has been actively associated with Dodge Brothers for a great many years before he was selected as president and general manager.

Mr. Ballantyne is president of the Merchants National bank of Detroit, a banker of national reputation, and was for a great many years the confidential financial adviser of John F. and Horace E. Dodge.

BUYS FAMOUS GAINSBOROUGH

Henry E. Huntington Pays $400,000 for "Blue Boy" Formerly Property of Duke of Westminster.

The New York World of Saturday has the following concerning a famous picture, and a famous American, well-known in Ontario as a former citizen and present benefactor, which will be of interest to everybody in this city.

Henry E. Huntington, American railroad magnate and collector of rare books and manuscripts and fine pictures, bought Gainsborough's famous "Blue Boy" from Sir Joseph Duveen, it was announced in London on Friday today. It is said Huntington paid $400,000.

As was obvious at the time, Sir Joseph's announcement several weeks ago that he bought the picture, with its title, "Tragic Muse," from the Duke of Westminster for himself and not for sale was merely a piece of the usual trade camouflage.

Huntington Has Many English Masters

of the late Collis P. Huntington of California, has acquired within the last ten or twelve years many of the greatest works of old English masters. Among them are three other Gainsboroughs, which were bought by the Duveens in London and later displayed in Paris and sold to Mr. Huntington. It also possesses Romney's portrait of Mrs. Siddons and her sister. It was Mrs. Siddons who sat to Reynolds for the "Tragic Muse."

Huntington Out of City.

At Mr. Huntington's home, No. 2 East 37th street, last evening it was said he is out of the city and no information would be given in his absence.

"Sir Joseph Duveen, when his purchase of the 'Blue Boy' was first announced, was quoted as saying he paid the record price of $200,000 for the picture and the Reynolds 'Tragic Muse' on his own behalf and that the pictures would not be for sale, as I am not accustomed to buy pictures on commission."

At about the same time it was said at the Duveen Galleries that the "Blue Boy" was purchased as a matter of business speculation, but not for any one purchaser, and that special arrangements were being made to exhibit the painting here.

At the time the Duveens bought the "Blue Boy" and the "Tragic Muse" for $200,000, it was announced the price for the "Blue Boy" was $170,000, the highest price ever paid for a single picture. This would be approximately $60,000. The "Tragic Muse" therefore, would have been acquired for $130,000, or approximately $170,000.

Bidding Ran Higher.

It was recalled that when the Duke of Westminster gave the "Tragic Muse" to Christie's to be auctioned the bidding had run to $50,000, and that therefore, if the division of price were correct, he had now sold it for $20,000 less than he was then offered.

If the price reported to have been paid by Mr. Huntington for the "Blue Boy" is correct, he would have paid the Duveens $25,000 less than they paid the Duke.

The only way, apparently, to avoid discrepancies in the reported figures is to disregard them entirely and assume that Sir Joseph bought the "Blue Boy" at least, for Mr. Huntington on commission.

A Monthly Income— An IMMEDIATE Income— A Lifelong Income—

If You Become Totally and Permanently Disabled, If Disease or Accident Stops Your Income

Disease or accident may at any time totally and permanently disable you and put an end to your earning power. What would you and your family do for an income? How would your home be maintained? Would your wife work? Would your children leave school and work? Your wife might be unable to earn an income—your children might be too young. There is a better way and a sure way.

His Quick Change of Mind

Possibly Harry Had His Reasons for "Deciding to Make That Little Visit, After All."

The hush of twilight had fallen upon all things, including the two figures standing in fond embrace by the garden gate.

At last she spoke. "Won't you come into the parlor, Harry, dear," she said, "and sit a little while before you go?"

"No, I think not," replied Harry, hesitatingly.

"I wish you would," pressed the young girl. "It's awfully lonely! Mother has gone out and father is upstairs groaning, with rheumatism in the legs."

"Poor fellow! Both legs?" asked Harry, solicitously.

"Yes, both, Harry," replied the old man's daughter.

"Well," decided Harry, "do you know, perhaps I will come in for a few minutes!"

LOOK INTO WELSH HISTORY

Simple Explanation of Fact Which Has for Long Puzzled Travelers in That Country.

Sir Alfred T. Davies, who has set some hundreds of Welsh children on the interesting work of compiling a record of Welsh rural lore—a sort of new Doomsday book—has been inquiring the reason for the curious fact (recorded by one of the new chroniclers) that while Welsh cows are invariably given Welsh names, Welsh horses are as invariably given English ones.

The explanation, says the Manchester Guardian, will be found a long way back in history. The first owners of horses in Wales were the nobles, many of them foreigners from across the border. Their horses naturally had English names and as the native Welshman, too, began to use horses instead of oxen, he gave them the familiar names to which he had become accustomed.

So it is that to this day horses in Wales bear such names as Boxer and Duchess, while the cows remain as true Welsh, with names like Siren and Pegasus.

When it comes to the fact that the Welsh people are so fond of their horses, the explanation is not so far back. The Welsh people are so fond of their horses that they will give them any name they like.

It is a fact that the Welsh people are so fond of their horses that they will give them any name they like.

Business Suspended and Services Held on Armistice Day.

Delhi, Nov. 12.—Business was suspended during the day and appropriate services were held in the Second Presbyterian church at noon. The students from all departments of the High school attended the services accompanied by their teachers in a body. The service was brief but impressive consisting of prayer and the singing of American.

The procession of students was quite impressive as they marched up Main street to the church, at least five hundred strong.

Anti-Poolers in Session at Albany.

A meeting of dairymen of Albany and vicinity who are opposed to the pooling plan of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc., was held Saturday at Catholic Union hall in the capital city. The meeting was addressed by Walter R. Pratt of Utica, who presented the case of those farmers who, unwilling to enter the pooling plan, had formed an association of their own, with the announced determination to protect themselves and to find a market for their products. The address by Mr. Pratt covered in the main points made by him at the Utica meeting, recapitulating at length objections raised to the league, as given a few months ago in the columns of The Star and other newspapers in Central New York. So far as is known no definite action was taken at the Albany meeting.

ANNOUNCEMENT TUESDAY

OF FIRST STEP OF RAILROADS FOR FURTHER CUT IN MEN'S WAGES.

Companies Must First Endeavor to Reach Agreement with Men in Conferences—Following Expected Refusal by the Employees, Applications Go to Labor Board for Hearing.

According to the press dispatches local officials of the railroad brotherhoods are expecting that the formal announcement of a determination on the part of the managers of the eastern railroads to commence proceedings looking to a further reduction in wages tomorrow.

Simultaneously the fifty-two carriers east of the Mississippi river and north of the Ohio will post notices calling for conferences to be held after the prescribed thirty day period has elapsed—between representatives of the various classes of workers and the rail managers. This means that many of the roads will hold their conferences with their men on Dec. 15. According to the Transportation act and the rulings of the Railway Labor Board thirty days' notice must precede any action which proposes to reduce wages.

The date for posting these wage reduction notices has been fixed since the meetings of the railroad executives here last Thursday, when the Eastern roads adopted resolutions backing up the entire program originally adopted by the Association of Railway Executives at Chicago on Oct. 14. The committee was also appointed which yesterday met with the Interstate Commerce commission at Washington to consider methods "of reducing rates."

Thursday's announcement will affect more than 750,000 railroad workers of all classes in the Eastern territory. Similar notices have already been made by some of the Western roads and the Southeastern and Southwestern carriers are pledged to follow soon.

In the thirty days following Nov. 15 the workers of each road are expected to choose representatives to meet with representatives of the carriers. The railroads will then present their program to cut the wages of the train service men in percent and the wages of shop craft and other employees to the going rate paid for the same work in other industries. At the expected refusal of the workers to accede to this plan the disputed cases will be immediately filed with the United States Railroad Labor Board at Chicago.

The two big brotherhoods of men engaged in the transportation departments will be affected by the proposed 10 per cent cut of the railroad companies. There are also 11 other railway organizations whose wage schedule it is proposed to reduce. It has been suggested that it will require some time to hear and determine the application of the railroads so that in the event that no agreement is reached between the companies and the men it will be months before any decision can be expected from the Labor Board.

Mr. Ingram Surprises Oneonta Friends.
Laurence T. Ingram, formerly associated with the Elmore Milling company, arrived in Oneonta from Albany last evening and will spend two or three days here. Mr. and Mrs. Ingram left Oneonta last May and up until last week had been sojourning at Ingram Lodge, near Saranac Lake, where they spent a very enjoyable summer. They returned through a veritable blizzard to Albany Saturday, where Mrs. Ingram is the guest of friends while Mr. Ingram is in Oneonta for the purpose of shipping their household goods to Beach Bottom, Pa., their new home. Mr. Ingram appears in the best of health and his many Oneonta friends, especially his brother Elks, will be glad to shake hands with him again.

Mr. Ingram will return to Albany tomorrow or Wednesday and they will then make their home by way of New York and Philadelphia. At Beach Bottom, Mr. Ingram will become associated with his father-in-law, J. C. Gorsuch, in the management of the Beach Bottom State Quarries and Mills, one of the growing industrial concerns of Pennsylvania.

IN THE SUPREME COURT

Several Cases of Importance Before Justice Kellogg in Oneonta Saturday.

A goodly number of parties in action, witnesses and attorneys were present at the special term of supreme court held by Justice Kellogg of the supreme court in chamber in Oneonta last Saturday. Among them, and in addition to a motion relative to the estate of John Burroughs, elsewhere mentioned in detail, were the following:

Actions by Flora and Frank H. Isbell of Morris against Dr. Charles E. Richards, a physician and surgeon in Chautauque county. The case grew out of an auto accident wherein Mrs. Isbell had a leg broken and was taken to a Chautauque county hospital. She was a patient there for sometime, and alleges in the complaint that the defendant was guilty of malpractice. The action by Mr. Isbell was for loss of services of his wife. Motion for change of venue to Chautauque was granted by Justice Kellogg, as that was the scene of the accident and the alleged malpractice. Love & Keating of Buffalo for the defendants, Meritt Bridges of Morris for plaintiffs.

Irving Wallace vs. C. J. Bennett, et al, action for foreclosure. Proofs taken and judgment granted. Proceeding adjourned to December 1. J. S. Waterman for plaintiff, Edward O'Connor for defendant, George Jenkins and P. C. Huntington for defendants Howard and Mabel Sullivan.

Bertha M. Compton as administratrix of estate of Walter L. Compton, deceased vs. the D. and H. company. Petition of the administratrix for permission to apportion the amount showed as 10 sections between herself, as widow, and her three children, aged 14, 11 and 2 years respectively. Order fixing appointment granted. C. C. Fleisch for plaintiff.

Catherine R. Cooke, of Cooperstown, plaintiff against John H. Mitchell, substituted trustee and others, defendants. Return to an order for plaintiff to show cause why the decrees of distribution heretofore granted herein should not be modified for the purpose of permitting the referee to pay directly to John H. Mitchell, as trustee, the share so payable to him, instead of requiring him to be appointed trustee in this state and give a bond to be approved by this court. Pearce Barnes, Thomas G. Frittsau, of New York of counsel for John H. Mitchell as substituted trustee. Cooke & Desinger, of Cooperstown, for plaintiff. Decision reserved.

In the case of George Hesse vs. Fred Shaw of Sidney, action on promissory note alleging fraud, adjournment was taken to November 25.
Violent family against William Danaher, a physician case. Action for divorce, statutory grounds. Proofs taken and decree granted. Edward O'Connor of Delhi for plaintiff, Anna E. Williams vs. Arthur L. Cox and Thoma Cox. Action for foreclosure. Trial commenced and evidence of several witnesses on the part of the plaintiff was taken. Adjourned to November 25. Sewell & Frazer of Sidney for the plaintiff, Robert L. Brown of Norwich, Lincoln L. Kellogg of counsel for defendants.

Something New in a Christmas Club

We have originated a new and novel plan whereby ANYONE CAN OWN A MOTOR CAR by merely laying aside a few pennies now and then.

This plan is going to be put into effect as a CHRISTMAS CLUB. EVERYONE SHOULD OWN A CAR instead of blowing in their money for cigars, candy, movies etc.

Make up your mind that this Christmas will see you the proud owner of a car. If you don't want it delivered before spring, it's all the same, only so you join the club now and take advantage of this unusual proposition.

ONLY FIFTY MEMBERS CAN JOIN, so act now, and come to our store and have the plan explained in detail.

All Cars Stop Here. Open Evenings. 'You Know US'
